THE SCARECROW Michael Connelly

A new thriller from the #1 bestselling author featuring crime reporter Jack McEvoy from The Poet

Jack McEvoy is at the end of the line as a crime reporter. The Los Angeles Times; dwindling revenue means he's got 30 days left on the job. His last assignment? Training his replacement. But Jack has other ideas. He is going to go out with a bang—a final story that will win the newspaper journalism's highest honour—a Pulitzer prize.

Jack focuses on Alonzo Winslow, a 16-year-old drug dealer from the projects who has confessed that he brutally raped and strangled one of his crack clients. Jack convinces Alonzo's mother to co-operate with his investigation into the possibility of her son's innocence. But Jack's real intention is to use his access to report and write a story that explains how societal dysfunction created a 16-year-old killer. But as he delves into the story he realises that Alonzo's confession is bogus, and Jack is soon off and running on the biggest story he's had since 'The Poet' crossed his path twelve years before.

Michael Connelly began writing his first novel The Black Echo in 1992, after three years working on the crime beat in L.A. Since then he has published over fourteen Harry Bosch novels, and an array of crime and mystery novels, including the legal thriller The Lincoln Lawyer and The Poet, featuring Jack McEvoy. He lives in Florida.

IN HOVERING FLIGHT

Joyce Hinnefeld

A rich and engrossing novel about love, loss, and the fragile beauty of nature

When artistic Addie Sturmer meets Professor Tom Kavanagh, their life together promises to be ideal. But as Addie becomes famous as a bird artist and even more infamous as an environmental activist, their shared lives change. Their grown daughter, Scarlet, who has spent her childhood longing for a 'normal' family has the kind of homecoming for which no child wishes—a visit back to family and dear friends for the passing of Addie.

This generous, elegant and engrossing novel has as its base the stuff that makes us human. It's about family and friends, about mothers and daughters, poets and painters, and passion, all explored through characters who are inspired by the lives, and particularly the songs, of birds.

In Hovering Flight has been rapturously received by booksellers in the United States, much like Water for Elephants was, and it was the US indies #1 pick for September (The Guernsey Literary & Potato Peel Society was their #1 August pick).

Joyce Hinnefeld has published fiction, poetry, and essays and her book of short stories, Tell Me Everything was called 'a beautiful and wise collection, with no wasted words'. In Hovering Flight is her first published novel. She lives in Pennsylvania.

THE SPY GAME

Georgina Harding

In 1961, young Anna's mother disappears into the fog. A rumble of exhaust and a blurred wave through an icy windscreen, and her mother is gone. The adult world shrouds the loss in silence, tidies the issue of death away along with the things that her mother left behind. Anna's brother Peter, however, is convinced that their mother is alive. With his questions ongoing, it leads the two of them into a deep game of suspicion that will haunt them for the rest of their lives. The Spy Game is a painful and tender reminder of the importance of understanding the past and, in turn, the importance of letting go.

Georgina Harding is the author of the novel The Solitude of Thomas Cave.

MEDICAL MURDER

Disturbing cases of doctors who kill
Robert M. Kaplan

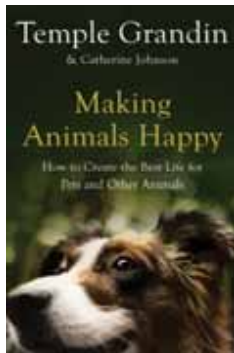

In 2000, world-wide headlines announced that Dr Harold Shipman had been found guilty of murdering fifteen of his patients. Before the trial, many assumed he was an over-zealous doctor accused of going too far in providing comfort to dying elderly patients. But Shipman had deliberately and callously murdered not just fifteen, but several hundred patients making him a medical serial killer of extreme dimensions ...

In Medical Murder, forensic psychiatrist Dr Rob Kaplan delves into the worlds of doctors who kill—from Dr Harry Bailey who dispatched numerous patients with the discredited Deep Sleep Therapy, to Dr William Palmer who poisoned his victims for insurance money. Kaplan explores the twisted motivations of these stealthy killers and grapples with the chilling paradox of why these healers use their skills in horrendous experiments, torture or genocidal murder.

Doctor Robert Kaplan is a forensic psychiatrist and historian. He lives in Wollongong.

A SHADOW FALLS In the heart of Java Andrew Beatty

Andrew Beatty lived in a village in Java, Indonesia, and was entranced by its strange and sensual way of life. Javan mysticism, Hinduism and Islam coexisted without competing with each other as they had always done. But now, the chill wind of Islamism was driving apparently modern young women to take the veil, and young men to announce that they would no longer participate in the old rituals. As violence began to intrude, Beatty and his family began to feel like vulnerable outsiders. This is a story of how one of the biggest issues of our time plays out in ordinary lives.

Andrew Beatty is an internationally-respected anthropologist. He teaches at Brunel University and lives near Oxford.
